Attorney, Planner, Hired To Fight "Master Plan"

The hiring of a special attorney and a professional land planner was unanimously authorized by city council on Friday, June 5, as part of its campaign to fight the proposed Master Plan for the College Park-Greenbelt area and the pending applications for high-density rental apartments.

The Greenbelt Homes, Inc. board of directors warmly supported the council move and will contribute one-third of the cost.

Joseph A. DePaul was selected to represent the city in zoning matters and to organize the case that will be presented at the public hearings before the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission and the County Commissioners. DePaul is of the firm of Keane & DePaul, 5806 Baltimore Ave., Hyattsville, and has been a practicing attorney in Prince Georges County for many years.

The public hearing originally scheduled for June 10 in College Park was postponed until July. The exact date will be announced later. Actually, there will be two public hearings: one in Greenbelt and one in College Park.

The city and GHI requested the postponement, pleading the need of extra time in which to prepare their case. The MNCPPC assented to the delay after receiving wide protest from other elected officials. Announcement of the postponement was made by County Commissioner Frank Lastner.

Subject to further negotiation, city council also agreed to hire George Marcou, a professional planner. Marcou will prepare, in cooperation with the city's Advisory Planning Board, preliminary and final master plan and testimony for the hearings in July and later.

Marcou is from the Washington, D. C. firm of Stein and Marcou Associates, which has prepared master plans for numerous Maryland communities, including Cumberland and Gaithersburg.

LATE BULLETIN

Public hearings on the Park and Planning Commission's proposed master plan for College Park-Greenbelt and Vicinity will be held at 8 p.m., July 21 in Greenbelt and at the same time July 22 in College Park.

The hearing previously scheduled for June 10 in the College Park Municipal Building was cancelled and the other dates set to give all interested residents more opportunity to study the plan and express their views. Commission officials explained.

The July 21 hearing will take place in the Greenbelt Center Elementary School Hall on Crescent road. The hearing on the following night will be held in the College Park Municipal Building.

Copies of the plan are available in the Commission's offices, 4811 Riverdale road and 8787 Georgia avenue.

City Councilmen Reverse Their Field On Capital Improvements

by Al Skolnik

Late attendants at last Friday's budget meeting saw a striking example of open-field running, as city councilmen reversed their positions like Saturday afternoon football heroes.

It all started when councilman Dave Champion moved for the addition of $1,500 to pay consulting engineer's fees for plans and blueprints for a specified number of capital improvement items: Hillside-Greenhill Rd. connection, shopping center renovation, widening of Woodland Way from Hillside to Forestway, sidewalk along Lakeside Rd., and Lakeside Road improvement.

Councilman Cliff Simonson objected on the grounds that there are many other desirable capital improvements and that all projects should be evaluated first as to their priority.

Councilman Lew Bernstein also objected on grounds that there is no assurance the funds would be sufficient to cover the Hillside-Greenhill Road connection.

The motion was passed after reference to individual items was deleted.

Bernstein then moved that the Hillside-Greenhill cut-through be initiated by providing specific funds for leveling and grading the connection.

Champion, Mayor Edgar Smith, and councilman Bill Hoff voted "No" on the grounds that such leveling would leave unpaved certain sections of Hillside which were now paved, until such time as the city got around to completing the paving. It was better, they argued, that the entire project be done at one time and not piecemeal.

Simonson, who had argued earlier against identification of particular capital improvements without assigning priority values, found himself supporting Bernstein.

Undaunted, Bernstein then went back to Champion's original motion and proposed that the Hillside-Greenhill Road connection be identified as a separate item for which engineering plans would be drawn up.

Champion and Smith opposed this on grounds that the motion would give preference to a single item. Bernstein pointed out that the budget already contained a great many capital improvement items that had been singled out for preferred treatment.

Hoff then proposed a compromise. It was, in effect, Champion's original motion to include all the five above-mentioned capital improvement items in a single bundle. This secured the support of Smith, but Bernstein and Champion now reversed their positions.

Champion voted against the motion that he had originally sponsored and Bernstein voted for the same motion which he had turned down earlier. Simonson went back to his original position that an evaluation of all capital improvements was needed before pulling out any particular ones for action.

The compromise passed 3-2. All five councilmen pledged to support the paving of the Hillside-Greenhill road connection when it comes up in due course. City manager James Giese has proposed that a separate long-range capital improvement budget be considered between regular budgets, with the goal of adoption by March 1 of each year.

City Notes

As part of the continuing program of improvements to Lakeside Drive, dating back to 1961, the public works department has begun excavating a strip on this street 150' long and 10½' wide, which will be replaced with new materials. A major cause of the deterioration of the street surface may be traced to a drainage problem in its base. When this new strip is completed, a 6" base of reinforced concrete will support a 2" asphalt topping.

The public works crew poured the second supporting wall and placed the steel beams over the storm drainage ditch at the end of Fayette place. A wooden deck was constructed over the beams that will carry public works equipment. Railings will not be placed on the bridge until a later date. The crew has also graded the approach to the bridge, which will enable the workmen to carry materials into the playground area located between the Woodland Hills and Lakewood Subdivisions, where they will install a neighborhood basketball court.

Tax Rate Only $1.07 Though Budget Increased

A $487,650 municipal budget for 1964-65 calling for a tax rate of $1.07 per $100 assessed valuation was adopted by the city council on Tuesday, June 9. This tax rate is 24 cents lower than last year's rate of $1.31 and the lowest in the city's history. For those whose property has been reassessed upward, the dollar tax outlay will not be proportionately reduced. In a series of meetings last week the council lopped $42,850 off the $530,500 budget proposed by city manager James K. Giese.

The $42,850 decrease was mainly achieved by elimination of a $27,050 reserve for conversion of the tax year, $6,000 for a paid fireman, and $5,000 for tennis courts renovation and construction. In addition, the council reduced the reserve for pay adjustments from $15,000 to $7,500, and the reserve for contingencies from $10,000 to $8,000. The council also substituted a $1,000 limited lighting program for Braden softball field for a proposed $5,000 new lighting system. Other items reduced were the sandblasting of underpasses ($1,000), Youth Center building improvements ($800), and clerical help for the Recreation Director ($500). Finally, there was a decision to use $5,000 from the building fund instead of general revenues to provide parking lot lighting improvements for the fire house.

Offsetting these cuts to some extent were increases over the proposed budget. Approximately $10,000 additional was allowed for attorney and land planner fees in connection with the zoning battles facing the city, $3,600 more for landscaping supplies, playground equipment, and paving of pathways, and $500 more for contributions to Little League, Babe Ruth, and Boys Club. New items added to the budget were $650 for widening the Centerway entrance to the east parking lot, and $1,500 for engineering fees in connection with plans for capital improvements. The budget also was amended to provide for an 8 percent increase in the city manager's salary.

New Tax Rate

The budget estimates that $236,200 will be raised from sources other than the real property tax (including $6,315 from surplus), leaving $251,450 to be raised through the real estate levy. Applying this amount against the assessed valuation (average amount) of $23.5 million yields a tax rate of $1.07.

The adopted budget is $113,720 or 30 percent higher than last year's fiscal appropriations of $373,930. The population of Greenbelt is expected to grow by the same proportion during this period. The tax rate, however, will be lower than last year, mainly because of the large increase in the tax base partly based on reassessment but mostly on new properties coming on the tax rolls. Last year's assessed valuation was only $13.9 million. Other influencing factors are the growth in revenue from sources other than the property tax: inventory business tax, waste collection charges, swimming pool fees, and the city's share of State-collected taxes. One item the city cannot count on this year is warehouse rental revenue of $4,200. NASA has announced it will no longer rent these quarters.

Tax Conversion Reserve

The council voted unanimously to eliminate the reserve for conversion of the tax year which must take place by 1966-67. Councilmen Dave Champion and Bill Hoff pointed out that overwhelming public opinion was against precollecting taxes for this purpose. Of 113 replies received from a mailed questionnaire to property owners, 96 opposed the reserve, including such large owners as GHI and Springhill Lake.

Champion added that plans were in the mill to introduce State legislation that would permit municipalities to borrow the money needed for conversion (so that the tax rate would not have to reflect the entire increase in one year). Councilman Lewis Bernstein felt that it was up to the individual homeowners to accumulate money for this contingency, and moved that the city manager inform each taxpayer of the situation. Councilman Cliff Simonson asked that developers also be required to inform prospective purchasers of homes that they would be faced with this extra tax in 1966-67.

Tennis Courts

By unanimous action, the council deleted $5,000 for tennis court renovation and construction. Simonson explained that the courts need a long-range planning program which would encompass construction of new courts, oriented in a different direction, with perhaps some dispersion throughout town. Until this long-range plan is prepared, he felt it would be unwise to spend money to renovate the present courts which he declared will still be playable for several years.

The $6,000 item for a paid fireman was deleted, awaiting a report from a special committee regarding the feasibility of such an arrangement. Council stated that it would take funds from the contingency account if it is decided later to employ a paid fireman.

Budget Essentials

Except for the changes cited above, the budget as adopted essentially followed the recommendations of the city manager. Unchanged was the police department budget calling for the addition of 4 police officers which would pro-

A Commendable Budget

In adopting the 1964-65 municipal budget, the city council has taken a long stride forward in bringing Greenbelt abreast of its responsibilities. The budget takes account of the growth of the community and the need for additional services. It makes a start on whittling down the backlog of needed projects that the city has been unable to undertake under the tight budgets adopted in previous years.

Among the highlights of the budget are the addition of 4 full-time policemen to give more complete round-the-clock service, the establishment of a separate parks crew to recondition the city's parks and playgrounds and the Lake area, and the speeding up of a road-maintenance and parking-lot construction program. Additional sums also are allowed for landscaping supplies, playground equipment, and recreation instructors. At the same time, due mainly to the reassessments and large increases in the tax base, the tax rate was dropped 24 cents.

The council also decided to eliminate the reserve for conversion of the tax year. We recognize that the overwhelming majority of property owners polled voted to eliminate the reserve, presumably preferring to pay the entire extra half-year's tax in 1966-67 when due and when the tax base may be much greater. We also recognize that there is some hope that legislative relief will be voted by the State that will permit the city to spread the cost of conversion over a period of years in the future.

Nevertheless, the council must ask whether its action has served the entire public interest and strengthened the city's image. We are mindful here of those who will find the extra taxes onerous if not spread over a period of years, of those who will be moving into Greenbelt in the next two years unaware of the added tax burden they face, and of the problems of developers who will be trying to sell homes in the year that the tax rate jumps 50 per cent.

County Population Climbs

Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties are expected to jump from a present combined population of 862,500 to well over 2 million within the next 35 years, according to the latest population estimates of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

The figures show that Prince Georges County, which now numbers 457,000 souls, is expected to have 1.2 million by the year 2000. Montgomery County will run a close second with nearly a million people as compared with 405,000 today. Only 25 years ago, Montgomery County had a population of 84,000 and Prince Georges County, 90,000.

Third Sabin Vaccine Offered on Sunday

The third dose of the Sabin oral polio vaccine will be given at the Center School and Greenbelt Junior High School on Sunday, June 14, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

There are only two valid reasons to defer taking the Sabin oral polio vaccine:

- (1). If a person is acutely ill on the day of the feeding (June 14) or,
- (2). If one has had a smallpox or measles vaccination in the last three weeks.

All citizens of the metropolitan area are urged by their medical societies to turn out to take the vaccine. Even if persons missed the first or second doses, they still need to take the Type II vaccine on June 14. The Type I and Type III vaccines may be taken later.

As with the Type I and III vaccines, a person simply eats a cube of sugar on which several drops of the vaccine have been placed. The entire process takes only a few moments. The cost is a voluntary contribution of 25c; however, it will be provided free to anyone who does not have the money to contribute.

There is no such thing as being too old to take the vaccine. Any individual who has not had the Sabin vaccine can be a carrier of polio, and it is only through total immunization of the area's population that polio can be wiped out forever. Anyone who has taken the Salk shots is also urged by the medical societies to take the Sabin vaccine.

Investigation has indicated that many persons in the area believe that they should not take the vaccine because of various allergies or diseases. The spokesman for the medical societies indicate that neither disease or allergy is a reason for not taking the vaccine.

The spokesman further stated that a person may, and should, take the oral vaccine even if he has allergies, including penicillin allergy.

There is more penicillin in a glass of milk than there is in a dose of the vaccine; however, people who fear even this infinitesimal amount should consult their doctor. The medical spokesman say further that the vaccine should be taken regardless of any basic disease process (diabetes, asthma, etc.) or if a person has recently taken a Gamma Globulin or Salk Shot, or is taking any other medicines.

The doctors also indicate that a person may take the vaccine even if vomiting on the day of feeding or if he has severe diarrhea. However, there is a possibility that the vaccine might lose some effectiveness. The doctors hasten to add that through some effectiveness might be lost it is still better to take the vaccine and be assured of partial protection.

Art Club Exhibit

The Thursday Night Art Club will hold its annual art exhibit on Sunday, June 14 from 11 a.m. to dark at the home of R. W. Taylor, 12020 Old Gunpowder Road, Beltsville.

Parcel Post Changes At Local Post Office

Effective June 20, the Greenbelt Post Office will advance to First Class and Postmaster Emory A. Harman has announced the following Parcel Post Changes:

WEIGHTS: Parcels mailed at a First Class Post Office in the U.S. for delivery at the same or any other First Class Post Office in the U.S. are limited to forty (40) pounds when addressed for delivery in the local, first and second zones; and to twenty (20) pounds when addressed to the third through the eighth zones, except that parcels mailed on or addressed for delivery on a rural or star route, parcels mailed to or from any Post Office in Alaska or Hawaii, parcels mailed at the Post Office from which patrons located on rural or star routes (star route address of sender must be shown), or parcels containing baby poultry, nursery stock, agriculture commodities, books, braille writers, and other appliances for the Blind are subject to the limit in seventy (70) pounds. (The term agriculture commodities includes any product grown or produced incident to an agriculture activity on a farm or in a garden, orchard, nursery, or forest, but does not include manufactured products of such commodities). Parcels containing such articles must be marked to show the nature of the contents, unless such information can be ascertained by outward examination of the parcel.

SIZE: Parcels mailed at a First Class office in the U.S. for delivery at the same or any other First Class Office in the U.S. and subject to limits of weight shown above must not exceed 72 inches in length and girth combined. All other parcels are limited to 100 inches in length and girth combined.

Baptist Bible School

The Greenbelt Baptist Church vacation Bible School will be held June 15-26 from 8:45-11:45 a.m., according to an announcement by Pastor S. Jasper Morris.

The Bible School will be for children ages 5-16. Pastor Morris said. There will be no charge, and transportation will be furnished.

The Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department bus will be used to transport the children. The tentative bus schedule calls for stops in Berwyn Heights, Springhill Lake as well as in Greenbelt.

Pastor Morris also has invited the public to a Fellowship Supper at 6:30 p.m., Friday. At 7:45 p.m., Pastor and Mrs. Morris will present an illustrated report on their recent mission to Australia and New Zealand.

Community Church Begins Busy Summer Schedule

Next Sunday the Greenbelt Community Church will go on their summer schedule until the Sunday after Labor Day. The Church Service will be held at 10 a.m. with Church School at the same hour for the younger children. At 9 a.m. the Junior Highs and Senior Highs and Adults will have their Church School.

Next Sunday, 27 young people will be commissioned by the minister, The Rev. Kenneth B. Wyatt, to attend Church camp for one week this coming summer. The camps are held in northern New Jersey. The young people with the help of the Church members have been raising money to help offset the cost of camp. Next Sunday the Youth Fellowship will sponsor a Bar-B-Q and Sing-A-Long on the Church Lawn at 5 p.m.

Those attending Church Camp will be: Thomas Blacker, Lorraine Burel, Nancy Daffron, Stephen Ford, Clay Harmon, Emory Harman, Carolyn Leo, Sharon Long-anecker, Helen Silvers, Constance Silvers, David Wigley, Linda Simonsen, Laura Simonsen, Jane Brance, Karen Fowler, Neil Alden, Glenn Stapler, Joseph Truban, Ellen Harman, Ronald Hufendick, Janice McGlothlin, Smaro Silvers, Donald Volk, Barbara Bowman, Joel Garner, Paul Lentz and David Nelson.

Sen. Neuberger To Speak; GCS Anniversary Barbecue

A chicken barbecue will be one of many features when members of Greenbelt Consumer Services and their families celebrate the co-operative's Silver Anniversary to be held on Braden Field, Sunday, June 21.

The Greenbelt Band, under the direction of Howard Carle, will play during part of the barbecue period. Other events planned for the afternoon program include a brief address by Senator (Mrs.) Maurine Neuberger of Oregon, exhibits in the Youth Center prepared by other cooperatives in Greenbelt and the Washington area, two new movies about cooperatives, group singing, games and contests for the children during the business meeting, and square dancing in the early evening.

Members registering in the Youth Center for the business meeting will be asked to fill out a suggestion card indicating what they believe the co-op's greatest need to be. Voting for five of nine directors will be completed at the meeting, and brief up-to-the-minute reports will be made on operations of the consumer-owned enterprise.

The chicken barbecue lunch will be served from 1:30 to 3:00, and tickets for this should be purchased in advance at Co-op's consumer discount supermarket. Members are urged to attend other events of the day whether they have barbecue lunch or not.

Fair Housing Activities

Greenbelters have been participating in several area "fair housing" activities recently. On May 16, Greenbelt Citizens for Fair Housing met to elect Dorothy Groark, Albert Herling, and Ted Pritzker to its Executive Committee. They join Bruce Bowman, Jan Turkiewicz, Patricia Unger, and Kenneth Wyatt, who will serve until October. At an Executive Committee meeting on May 28, the following officers were chosen: Chairman, Turkiewicz; Vice-Chairman, Wyatt; Treasurer, Pritzker; and, Secretary, Mrs. Unger.

Herling and Rev. Wyatt were among those who attended a Community Conference at the University of Maryland on May 23 under the sponsorship of the Prince Georges County Human Relations Committee. Bowman led a workshop on "Housing".

Volunteer Tutors Needed For Summer 3-R Program

The newly-formed Greenbelt Volunteer Tutoring Group needs volunteers who can donate one or two hours a week to work with elementary school children needing help in arithmetic, reading and language skills.

The program gets underway the week of July 5.

High school students with good math marks, and college-trained adults with backgrounds in remedial reading and language skills, are asked to contact Mrs. Hedda Sachs at 277-6360.

The Greenbelt Volunteer Tutoring Group is a branch of the Office of Tutoring Services, an organization recently established to coordinate the efforts of 2,200 volunteers working with children in the D.C. area. The office is affiliated with the Health and Welfare Council.

There are more than 60 groups tutoring 4,250 area children. These groups include church organizations, community centers, settlement houses, college students, neighborhood councils, service clubs, high schools, and educational organizations.

Some of the participating groups include the Urban Service Corps, most area colleges, the D. C. Congress of Parents and Teachers, and "Future for Jimmy."

Pledges of support for the tutoring center have been received from several philanthropic foundations.

Eventually, the center plans to acquire a library of tutoring aids, train tutors, supply transportation for volunteers who cannot provide their own, evaluate programs, and serve as a recruiting arm and referral center for volunteers.

On June 3 about ten persons from Greenbelt heard William L. Taylor, General Counsel of the U. S. Civil Rights Commission, discuss the Civil Rights bill now under consideration by the Senate. The occasion was the First Annual Meeting of Prince Georges County Fair Housing, Inc. at which over 100 members elected a twenty-one person Board of Directors. Bowman and Mrs. Unger were elected to serve one and two year terms, respectively. This group is inaugurating county wide Community Relations programs to support any qualified individual's right to buy or rent the home of his choice without regard to race, color, religion, or national origin.

Park Service Still Hopes For 76-Acre Jaeger Tract

According to a report in the Evening Star, the National Park Service is still interested in buying the Jaeger tract adjacent to the Greenbelt Regional Park.

T. Sutton Jett, National Capital Area parks director, told the Prince Georges Citizens Planning Association that "we still feel very strongly that 76 acres which have been rezoned for high-rise apartments by a Circuit Court judge should be purchased."

The decision to rezone the parcel for apartments has been appealed to the Maryland Court of Appeals by protesting citizens and the City of Greenbelt. Jett said the 76 acres would cost more than $3 million if the high-rise apartment zoning is upheld, which is too expensive for the Park Service.

"I would hope that some way could be found to keep the zoning of this land at a level for acquisition," Jett said. He added that bills in Congress to authorize the purchase of the remaining parcel have not been acted upon.

The park service is spending $500,000 to develop the regional park and has $278,000 more programmed for it. Plans for an 18-hole golf course may be discarded.

"We wonder if we can really afford to devote that much acreage to a golf course if development is intensive around the park," Jett said.

Paddack is New Swim Coach

The Greenbelt Recreation Department is most happy to announce that Stephen J. Paddack will be the coach of the Greenbelt Swim Team for 1964.

Paddack is a former collegiate swimmer from Catholic University, where he won seven varsity letters in athletic competition. He is known to many Greenbelters for his interest in swimming and for having started a small diving team last summer.

For the past 18 months, Paddack, 29, has made his home at 5-B Crescent Road with his wife, Kathy, and their 8-month-old daughter, Maria Teresa.

Swimming Team Registration

Registration will be held for boys and girls, ages 7 to 17, who are interested in being on the Greenbelt Swimming Team, Saturday, June 13 at 10 a.m. at the Pool. At 11, Mr. Stephen Paddock, the coach, will evaluate the members by putting them through a few paces.

Babe Ruth League Opening

Saturday, June 13 at 10 a.m. Co-op will play Festival Committee in the first Babe Ruth game of the season. Gil Hodges, manager of the Washington Senators, will throw out the first ball. Music will be furnished by the Greenbelt Concert Band.

County Recreation Program

The Prince Georges County Recreation Department will operate summer playground programs at North End School and the Youth Center this summer.

June 29 is opening day for the County's seventy-eight playgrounds.

Playgrounds are designed for children of school age and the activities include: softball for both boys and girls in five age divisions, volleyball, tetherball, badminton, arts and crafts, nature, games, story telling, dramatics, music, and special events.

Most playgrounds are open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. with a number scheduled to offer activities from 9 a.m. until dark. Hours of operation and weekly program schedules will be available at each playground.

All playgrounds are sponsored by Community Recreation Councils who provide all supplies for the playground and volunteers to assist in the program. Family Fun Nights are held two or three times during the summer in cooperation with the Recreation Council.

Three playgrounds will offer special programs for retarded children, with leadership provided from 9 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. These playgrounds are operated by the Recreation Department in cooperation with Prince Georges County Association for Retarded Children and are located at: Ager Road Elementary School, 6201 Ager Road; Ridgely Center School, 8991 Central Avenue; Hillcrest Heights Center, 2720 Iverson Street.

vide 3 men on the day time shift, 3 men on the evening shift, and 2 men on the night shift. Two patrol cars will be in operation round the clock plus a roving foot patrolman to cover beats in various parts of the city. Also authorized is the purchase of an additional police car.

Unchanged also was the city manager's recommendation for a separate parks crew consisting of 2 men full-time and temporary summer help, and augmentation of the general Public Works crew by two additional laborers. Also approved was additional personnel and equipment for refuse collection and the retention of a consulting engineer on a monthly fee basis.

Other recommended projects approved by council include the surface treating of 17 service courts with a single seal application of oil and chips, surfacing of west center parking lot and replacement of bad curbing, smooth seal surfacing of approximately 1 mile of streets in the north end of the city, and construction of new sidewalk on Research between Hillside and Ridge. Funds are also authorized to initially finance the operation of concession stands at the swimming pool and Youth Center. These expenditures will be offset by anticipated revenues.

The budget calls for an increase in trash collection rates, as recommended by the city manager. Nominal increases are scheduled for GHI and single-family homes of about 20 percent and more substantial increases for apartment housing ranging from 50 to 76 percent.

The recreation budget, following the city manager's recommendation, calls for an increase of $1,500 for swimming coach, playground leaders, and instructors in arts and crafts, dramatics, tennis, and archery. $1,050 is allowed for new basketball backboards in gym and replacement of snack bar folding door. Added at the last moment was $250 for the purchase of new skates.

Talking to Baby Essential For Normal Development

The cooing and prattle most mothers seem to instinctively lavish on their children isn't just so much "baby talk." Psychiatrists and pediatricians now recognize such maternal "gushiness" as highly important to the emotional development of children. The absence of such development, in turn, is a factor in mental retardation. Indeed, most authorities agree that 75 to 80 per cent of the mental retardation in this country stems from a lack of emotional development.

Of course talk isn't the only thing that stirs interest, curiosity and intellect, factors which go to make up emotional development in an infant. But it is one of the most readily available means of communication between parent and child, (even if they don't understand each other's words) and early communication is the basis for emotional development. Words, and the ability to link them into thoughts, are highly important tools of learning. If these tools aren't learned, the child has difficulty developing. He becomes, in effect, walled off from the normal world about him.

It is, of course, possible to over-coddle a child. Because rich stimulation of a child is good doesn't mean that more stimulation is better. He can be pushed too hard, made to develop too fast, and this can create its own set of difficulties.

The important thing is to make certain that your child does have loving stimulation; that he gets the attention he needs to encourage his curiosity, interest and imagination.

A WEEK AT CAMP LETTS

by Bernice Rowley
Fifth Grade Teacher,
Center School

"There's fun afield" was evidenced at Camp Letts when fifth grade pupils from Center School spent five school days away from their desks. In spite of various interests, this experience developed an understanding and appreciation of the ways of life in a natural setting. This has led to a study of communities of living things, meaning of interdependence, and balance in nature, and conservation.

We in Prince Georges County are fortunate in having an outdoor education school made available during September and May. This pilot project has been developed by interested staff members. Quotes from students' letters show their desire for the continuation and expansion of the program in order that more boys and girls will have the same opportunity to participate.

Back in the classroom again with a wealth of material from their collections, notes, and snapshots, the students are continuing their studies of the outdoors. Social skills are being developed through committee work. A variety of ways of reporting and sharing information develops such skills as writing thank-you letters, research reading, writing reports, giving oral reports using notes or outlines, using art materials, making charts, vocabulary building, collecting and writing creative nature poems, and most interesting of all - the ability to use the microscopes, opaque projector, and micro-projector. All this is in preparation of a culminating activity, an exhibit.

Planning precamp activities with the students is a part of the classroom teacher's responsibility. Students are aware of their responsibilities as to planning, purpose, and follow-up. Setting a table, folding the flag, making beds, and trail etiquette were a part of the preparation for a fun-filled week at camp.

Observing students motivated by real life experiences, the friendships made with pupils of other County schools, and their relationships with their student counselors, is revealing. A class survey indicated the pupil's preference for the waterfront activities, especially casting and canoeing. These are opportunities which couldn't possibly be offered in the self-contained classroom. Most interesting of all was the opportunity of observing students when they realized that learning can be fun.

School's Out

"School's Out" may be a happy occasion for area children, but it has a different meaning for the motorist. It means extra danger, the American Automobile Association warns.

During the next three months, the normally quiet hours between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. constitute a new danger period for potential traffic accidents involving school age children, particularly in residential areas and around shopping centers. Children at play are not apt to be thinking about the rules of safety and motorists are unaccustomed to watching for them during these hours, reminds George R. Hammond, Manager of the Traffic Safety Department, D. C. Division, AAA.

"A child," Mr. Hammond points out, "has an uncanny ability to concentrate on his play and disregard everything else around him. It's the motorist's responsibility to watch out for the child and never assume that children will detect your car."

"Parents also have a major responsibility," he added, advising them to instruct their children as to proper play areas. "The street," he says, "is a very hazardous playground and so is the driveway."

Tell The VA When You Move

Each year more than 200,000 veterans or their beneficiaries lose at least one payment of their monthly benefit checks for failure to notify the VA and/or the Post Office of a change of address. The Veterans Administration said the amount involved is more than $15 million.
